HUMANE OFFICERS ACT.

Look After Horses in Warrenville and Neglected Children in Canterbury.

Sunday, Prosecuting Agent S. B. Harvey and local Humane Agent P. A. Weeks, representing the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, were busy investigating complaints sent in late the past week from nearby towns.

They first paid a visit to Warrenville and investigated a complaint relative to six horses used by Contractor Tony Vito on state road work. It was alleged that they were not properly cared for. No hay or grain was found on the premises by the officers but the horses were not in bad condition. An agreement was made whereby the animals will be properly fed and given an opportunity to recuperate. An order for grain was placed at a store in Warrenville by Agent Weeks and the horses will be used in relays during the present week. Special Sale of Trunks and Suit Cases

This is travel time, and those of us who have not yet gone on our vacations are making plans for that glad-some event.

The Trunk or Suit Case is, of course, one of the important features of the trip.

For this week we have assembled together a special lot of Trunks and marked them at 1-3 and 1-2 off their regular prices. They are particularly good trunks, and come from a reliable maker who calls them "discontinued lines." All canvas covered, with hard wood slats, strong brass lock and bumpers, some with all around leather.

Their former prices were $6.50, $7.50, $8.50 and $9.00. Now reduced to $3.25, $4.69, $4.98, $5.98, $6.79 and $6.98.

concerning a destitute case in a family named Hill. It was found that Hill had been drinking some and that his children were in need of food. Hill was ordered to stop drinking and provide for his family, under penalty of being hauled into court. He promised to do both. The officers came across the horse on the way to Canterbury that was lying in a field. O. E. Gray, the owner, was given the option of feeding it or killing it and he shot the animal.

ASH BOX DROPPED.

Causing Annoying Accident and Nearly Two Hours' Delay of C. V. Train.

Monday noon the Central Vermont passenger train due here at 12:20 was delayed in this city for an hour and fifteen minutes because of a slight accident. As the train was crossing the switch in the railroad yard west of the gas house the ash box of the engine dropped to the ties and jammed against the brake beam on the forward trucks of the tender. The brass on the housing box was somewhat damaged and the forward truck of the tender left the rails and rolled along for a distance of more than one hundred and twenty-five feet before it was stopped by the engineer. Many of the bolts in the rails were stripped off and the track was torn up for quite a distance as a dense cloud of dust was raised. The train unloaded its passengers in a hurry and there was excitement for a few moments but no serious damage resulted.

A replacing iron was secured and after an hour's hard work the train crew got the tender trucks back on the rails. The engine and tender were run onto a siding and a derrick and tender was sent up from Norwich to haul the train to its destination in New London, leaving this city about 2 o'clock.
